CHATEAU SIRAN 2014 MARGAUX

Erobertparker.com - Neal Martin - Avril 2015

Score: 90-92

“The Château Siran 2014 has perhaps the most sophisticated bouquet that I have encountered at his stage from this upcoming estate. There is real definition and focus here, more precision than recent vintages have shown. The palate is medium-bodied with tensile tannin. There is good acidity, energetic and animated in the mouth with a vivacious finish that has class. This is very promising for the future and it may warrant a higher score in bottle.”

James Suckling.com -Bordeaux Primeurs 2014

Score : 90-91

Solid core of fruit with chewy tannins and a walnut, chocolate charcter. Full body. Lots of fruit.

Wine Spectator - Bordeaux Primeurs 2014 - James Molesworth

Score: 89–92

Plum pit, cherry and dried anise notes form the core, with a light mesquite edge starting to emerge on the finish. A pretty, understated style.

CHATEAU SIRAN 2014 MARGAUX

Decanter - Steven Brook - October 2016

Score: 91

This exhibits a big, ripe, fleshy, blackberry nose, with vibrant fruit and a deep red colour. It's sumptuous, concentrated and very rich, balanced by bold tannins yet not too extracted. It's quite spicy and just lacks a little drive on the finish, but this is a fine offering from this increasingly impressive estate.

La revue du Vin de France - Olivier Poels

Note : 15,5-16/20

Premier millésime vinifié sous l'égide d'Hubert de Boüard, le vin se révèle rond et ample, avec une jolie plénitude de fruit et aussi une maturité qui semble un peu plus poussée qu'à l'habitude. Le vin s'est étoffé, avec un côté sphérique particulièrement charmeur.

Le Point - Jacques Dupont - Mai 2015

Note: 15,5/16

Grillé, épice, réglisse, bouche large, généreuse, bonne matière, long, crémeux.

A déguster : 2019

Bettane et Desseauve - L'express supplément - Juin 2015

Note : 16,5/20

Fruité cassis, corps joliment élancé, de la vivacité de la fraîcheur, finale très florale, comparable en style, et longévité probable, avec les crus classes voisins.
